Hondbong, May 6th, 18:5. Since the colony is to have a Medica Officer of Health, whether independent of the Sanitary Board or as an officer of that body, it is desirable that the gentleman appointed should have full qualifications for the In the English Public Health Act of 1875 it was provided that "A person shall "not be appointed medical officer of health "under this Act unless he is a legally "qualified medical practitioner." In the Local Government Act of 1888 the quali fication was raised and it was provided that no person should be appointed medical officer of he lth of any county or district or combination of districts having a popu fifty thousand or more inunless he was also "the "hold r of a diploma in sanitary science, " public health, or state medicine under sec-"tion 21 of the Medical Act, 1886," an exception deing made, as is usual in suc eases, in favour of persons holding appointments at the time of the passing of the Act. If this qualification is considered necessary in England, much more ought it to be consi ered necessary in the case of Hongkong, where the application of sanitary science to l and litious presents a difficult problem requiring for its satisfactory solution special technical knowledge. Dr. Westcorr who has been provisionally appointed to the office, is an army surgeon, and, so far as we are aw are, h sattainments command the respect of his fellow medicos, but prima facie it would unt strike one that the selection, of an army surgeon was the best that could be made for Inspector McIvor considerable trouble, so Mr. the position, except possibly to fill it tem. I mate of state modigine of Boalin, but with these exceptions none of our loss doorors seem to have taken qualifications of this description. That the colony should have been deprived of Dr. HARTIGAN'S services as a member of the Sauitary Board in consequence of the Government's hostility to unofficials having anything to do with public questions, especially questions of sanitation, is under the circumstances particularly regrettable. A PUBLIC circulating library has hitherto been a great want in Hongkong, Both Shanghai and Singapore have such institutions, and both do excellent work. A cir cular issued by the Secretary of the Shangbai Library a few years ago contained the "a real public want. The number of those who belong to a Club library, or who can afford to buy books for themselves " is extremely limited, and the members that fortunate class who are at the same time subscribers to the Shang-Library, although they them-" selves may derive no benefit from a pay

The preamble recites that in July, 1894, a public library entitled the Hongkong Public Library was established and has hitherto been supported and carried on by voluntary contributions and that Mr. G. B. DODWELL, the Hon. J. H. STEWART LOCKHART, and Mr. R. SHEWAN are the pre-Editor, not for publication, but as evidence of good sent trustees of the said library. It is proof the library shall be managed by a Board consisting of nine members, viz. two to be appointed by H.E. the Governor the Colonial After trut hour the supply is limited. THE AUDIBILITY OF THE GAP ROOM FOG SIGNALS: The following report by the Harbour Master on the audibitity of the Gap Rock fog signals has been forwarded to us by the Secretary of the General Chamber of Commercu: Harbour Department.

Hongkong, 30th April, 1895, Sir,-In furtherance of my intention expressed to you when forwarding the finding of the Marine Court on the stranding of the Polyphomus on Jubileo Island, I yesterday visited the Gap Rock and afterwards proceeded in the Fame to a costtion south of the Rock approximate to that ascribed to the Polyphomus on the morning High Contracting Powers to delimit the naw

From this position I steamed slowly towards Jubiles Island on a course nearly approaching haive as a guarantee; China to pay Tls. 500,000 lose his throne and Upper Burmah to be annexed that which took the Polyphemus on shore. The fug signal on the work was by my orders kept going every five minutes, and observations were made by me as to the distance from the Rock at which these were heard, the result being as follows :--

2.394 yards distant insudible. elightly andible. audible. - andible. The weather at the time was fine and clear with a light S.E. wind. The conclusion I come to is, that, on the wind ward side of the Rock, one sea mile is the extreme distance at which the fog signal should be expected to be heard, even then it should be looked for with extreme caution: I would deprecate being considered as saything more a warning of approach towards the Roc teelf, and would recommend its not being used for the purpose of navigating past the Rock on Further, after the enquiry, I see no reason for doubling that the fog signal was being properly worked on the morning of the Sti instant, or that the intervals were properly timed. The chief lightkeeper was attending to this duty himself, the remaining stock of gun cotton charges and detonators is correct, and with a clock within a yard of him when firing the charge I see no good reason to rely on the time taken on board the Polyphemus in preference to that taken in the Light room. The Honourable Director of Public Works accompanied we on this occasion and kindly gave me bis assistance in making the observations.l bave, &c. R M. RUMBEY. Harbour Master, &c

In the meantime the line taken by the apologists of the French Government is that the post is actually on the 1 ft bank, but that if it had been placed on the right bank instend this country would have had no cause to complain. By people who hold that view a post on the left bank opposite Keng-Keng may perhaps, be used to dominate the place with nearly as much effect as if it were on the right, On the other hand, the whole thing may be perfectly harmless and regular. But in either case we ought to know the truth There are times when the Foreign Office ought to be supported in its refusal to give information -say, for example, about pending negotiations, There is, however, no privilege of that kind when information is sought about actual facts, and when the only interest to be served by concealment is the interest of officials whose action has, Incidentally this discussion about Keng-Kong to the value of the agreements by which it was supposed that our diplomatists had settled the right to have residences on the Siamese side of the river, which was understood in this country to mean that they dould appoint Counts officials of some kind in Siamese towns to lock after their commercial interests. Yet the language now held, not, indeed, by the French Government, but by influential French journals. seems to claim that, where a French Resident may be appointed, a French military post may assign any other meaning to the contention at or near Keng Kong might have been on the right bank without directly violating the ranco-Siamese treaty. If that contention be seriously put forth, the whole agreement about making the Mekong the boundary becomes so much waste paper. Another triumph of our liplomacy was supposed to be the construction of buffer State on the Upper Mekong which should avort all chance of disagreement between this country and France in these regions. Some of us did not quite see at the time bow a buffer State was to be made, since it requires the presence of some neutral Power strong enough to maintain order and command respect from its neighbours on each side. The buffer State, however, was apparently taken quits a riously by our Foreign Office, and was honourably mentioned in desnatches passing between Downing street and the Paris Embassy. In these interesting oircumstances, it was not for patriotic critics to run any risk of blighting diplomatio promise. so we were all content to hope that the Foreign Office saw deeper than ourselves into the nature of things. Now we are told that the buffer State was never anything but a verbal misunderstand. ing. and that nothing was or could be in question beyond the delimitation of a sone neutre. Well, we all know what that means. It is what pature abbors in polities as in physics -- a vacuum. It is a no-mau's land for the government of which neither party is responsible, and for the nonrovernment of which each blames the other. Yet it is gravely affirmed in Paris that some such breeding ground of quarrels is all that our oreign Office has been able to provide by way if assuring peace and concord .-- 1 imes.

THE WISDOM OF EARLY RISING

The popular notion that early rising is good for all classes, usually expressed in the jingling proverb, "Early to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy and wealthy and wise." is probably an error caught by the cultivated from the common people, and maintained partly because they thought it must be true, but chiefly because they were sprious to be rid of the noise and obviousness of their children ear your the night The common people, of course, based their idea, as they have based almost all their traditional ideas. The following is the result of the race for the inpen ages of uniform experience. Their grand necessity has been been been of their resources. and they have found it most economical to work only by natural light. To get up late is for the p-asants of the world, who were till lately the people of the world, to waste invaluable time while to sit up late is to waste light, firing in cold General Low has been authorised to offer to countries, and the opportunity of recruiting their prevailed. Colonel Yang, the Governor's unconditional surrender, coupled with, if he so early, and go to sleep as about as they have eaten The defendant said the shed was erected in chief side de-camp, then saked and re desire it, a promise of an honograble saylum for their last meal, the time for which they will not passengers on board, and they were so alarmed defeat and take with him 800 of himself and tamily, with a reasonable number of deduct from the sun-lighted period of labour. The sconemy of this system is obvious, and as Benismin Franklin peopted out in his amusing tract upon the subject, smounts in the aggregate to The Council of Egyptian Missisters has decided something enormous, all that is thus saved be officer of the P.W.D. the grown-ups who do not. Northerners, who rise later than Southerners, enjoy distinctly to a necessary but disagreeable rule of life, and not as an expression of their convictions. There remains wisdom. As a matter of fact. is it a good thing for the brain, to get up early and retire early to rest ! The British Medical Journal, warsea, doubts it; and speaking without our contemporary's professional knowledge, but from a rather specially wide experience of the subject, we should echo the doubt. It is a very odd thing, to begin with, that if the adago is true, the cultivated in all countries should. a body, reject it, should get up much later than beasants, and remain up as long as they dare. They all of them tend to turn night into day, and if they were not afraid of breaking down, they would do itstill more. Nothing stops from New York for Anjer. the undergraduates of the world from getting up at five if they like, and going to bed at nine but not only do they when left to themselves get up at nine and go to bed at midnight. But the more studious they are, the more frequently do they sit up reading till, as their mothers tell them, they can bardly see out of their eyes Most men seek health with some earnestness. and why, if it is to be had from early rising. do the cultivated almost universally avoid that practice, so that much of their work, especially the work which does not require association, is done after dark? We need not point to-Londeners, who might be said to be victims of the false habits begotten of city life, for, as it happens, there is a whole class of the oultivated which obeys the adage literally. All Angle-Indians in India rise early, and retire early. They must be up shortly after five, if they are to get any enjoyment of the cooler hours, and they very rarely-go to sleep later than half-past ten. They ought, therefore, to be the wisest of mankind, and they are not, being, of course with exceptions, the men who of all others rend least. study least, and add least to their early stores of general information. Burristers in England in full practice rend more and learn more outside their profession than Indian civilians. The writer has tried both systems. For many years past he has risen at eight and gone to bed at one but he was at one time in his life compelled for twelve years to rise at five and go to bed at ton: On The period of sleep was the same in both cases; and he would deliberately assert that the former system was far more favourable b. th to intellectunk work and to beneficial study, while neither seemed to interfere with the somewhat rickety and imperfect health which is all that Providence has seen fit to bestow on him. Politicians. _students, professionals, all work deep into the night, and this so generally, that we are justified in asking whether they may not be obeying an instinct at which a great medical expert hinted recently in these words:-" There is some infinence over the human body at work at night of which we know very little. Our experience of disease and of death places that beyond a doubt, temperature rising without cause at pight and death occurring without special cause in the early hours of the morning.

It is at least possible therefore that the brain is at night better supplied and therefore, till sleep has supervened, mure active."

We should say too, though many will deny this, that the food of the day had nonrished it, and that the long abstinence caused by sleep specially exhausted the brain.

It is probable, however, we quite admit, that the effect of night on individuals differs greatly. and that a process of natural selection is continually at work, men who cannot bear nightwork avoiding it, while those to whom it is recaperative-and every journalist knows such men-throng into the professions in which sitting up, if not obligatory, is at least edvantageous. There are extraordinary differences of instinct in this respect, a few men being literally unable to bear night-work, while a few others deliberately leave their whole work to be done after "the sun has disappeared. The incapacity and the faculty are connected in some way with the differences in the power of sleeping, which still remain among the H. H. L. Trainways. perplexities of physicians. Yohy can some men sleep at will, and some "nervous" men too, while others, sometimes very "heavy" men with apparently immovable ferves are tortured il. & W. Dock...... by insomnia? Why, too, do some men seem to obtain sufficient rest with five hours' sleep while others require nine? Do some men " sleep slow," as Mr. Smedley jocularly argued in one of his amusing stores, or do they actually require mere sleep? We cannot answer the question any more than the dostors can, but we agree on one side of the subject most heartily with the British Medical Journal The popular projudice against sleep works an infinity of mischief. There are plenty of sluggards even among the oultivated class, but the elsep-sluggard is in that class a very rare specimen. The tendency of the educated is to wakefulness, and the man who does intellectual work and exhibits what his friends think a disposition to oversleep, is obeying a healthy instinct Sleep recuperates him, and he knows it. The popular notion that a young man who works with his head yet sleeps for nine hours is a sluggard, is popular nousense. No man whose brain is active and who does not drink, ever sleeps more than is good for him, and the cure, if he seems to do it, is to let him sleep till he gives his habit up Sleep is a delight till you have had enough of it, but tive minutes beyond that point it becomes an insufferable bore. Nobody sleeps twice round the clock, or once round the clock, unless impelled thereto constionally or nu constionally by exhaustion, for which, again, sleap is itself the best and the most natural remedy. The contrary idea has arisen, as we believe, purely from e selfishness, the extreme inconvenience and household upsetting which arises when any one neces-demands made on them in this respect, and so Malwa Old We suppose seven hours of sleep suffice for the majority, or they would not have fixed upon that period as the proper stint, but numbers of young men positively require eight, and half the women who think would be the better for teh. There is no rule of course, and can be none, any more than there can be a rule as to the precise quantity of food which benefits an individual; but opinion should be more merciful than it is. It has hardened itself fromstudying an old experience, and forgets that in our day the nerves are twice as much tried as they were a century ogo, and that the grand. medicine for the perves and brain is continuous sleep!
